THE DARKY TOTAL TARROWS AND THE COLUMN TO SECONDARY MANY AND ASSESSMENT OF THE PROPERTY OF THE

THE STEINWAY PIANO.

The following appeared in La Presse Musicate, an influential musical journal in Paris:-These piano-fortes furnish us with a specimen of American industry and manufacture which leaves no room for improvement. In the same measure that the boxes disappear, to make room for the articles to be exhibited, the astonishment is increased, not only in regard to the eye, but also for the ear. We do not he sitate to de-clare, after having heard these piano-fortes, that they are real wonders of art and industry.

We have just heard the Grand Planos exhibited by Messrs, Steinway & Sons, and our surprise, we must confess, was great. We always thought that a piano-forte of this kind, possessing such power and such majestic fulness of tene, could not be made subservient to facility of modulation, and variety of accents. Then again we were of opinion that such powerful pianos could not but have a hard touch. Nothing of the kind.

But a still greater surprise has been in store for us. We have been compelled to admiration by a Square Piano, one of those instruments which have been scarcely in use in Paris for the last twenty years, but which are preferred in America; we are even told that ninety-live out one hundred planos sold are of this shape.

If we had at first doubted that with such a plano one could create a sensation in Paris, our opinion soon underwent a complete change, after having beard this instrument. now easily understand the preference given by the Americans to these piano fortes, for in Europe we can hardly realize what these Square Pianos are, as manufactured by Messrs. Steinway & Sons.

We cannot too strongly urge our readers, artists as well as others, but especially the bianists, to examine what we consider perfection realized in the art of pianoforte manufac-ture. It is but just to add that the Parler Grand, as well as the upright Piano is in every espect equal to the other pianofortes exhibited Messrs. Steinway & Sons.

We propose to give a detailed description of all the ingerious inventions due to this firm, and at the same time to make special study of the means employed to obtain such results. For the present it must suffice us to say that the house of Steinway & Sons, in New York, has justly occupied for the last ten years the highest rank in its specialty, and if it has the privilege of being at the head of the manufacture of pianos in that country, it is because it has understood how to give an impulse to this manufacture, and to bring the latter to the highest degree of perfection. degree of perfection.

Another Magnificent Swindle Proposed-"THE FOOL AND HIS MONEY ARE SOON PARTED."—Messra Clark, Webster & Co., doing business at No. 62 Broadway, New York, as bankers, managers, and utilitarians in general, sappear to place upon this time-honored maxim the most implicit reliance. No one can blame them for so doing, for no one will dispute the truthiu ness of the maxim, unless he himself belongs to the illustrious and numerous fraternity of fools. But Messrs. Clark, Webster & Co. should be careful lest they suspect some one of being a fool who does not properly belong to the category. And when Messrs, Clark, Webster & Co., a few days ago, mailed to several of the most prominent merchants of this city the prospectus of a little scheme which they are manipulating at the present time, they dis-played a weakness which renders the advice played a weakness which renders the advice above given extremely opportune.

We have been favored by a friend, against whom they thus insinuated their belief in his lack of common sense, with a private view of the programmes issued by Messrs. Clark, Webster & Co. Among these is a handsomely displayed slip of the width of two newspaper columns, and the length of two leet. It starts out with the assurance that "The Bankers' and Brokers' Grand Presentation Entertainment will positively take place, as previously advertised, on Tuesday, June 18, 1897, at Cooper Institute, New York;" with the further assurance that the grand distribution of prizes will be conducted on the "Mutual Benefit Principle," by a "pro-rata distribution of profits to the ticket-holders." The capital of the "Entertainment" is fixed at $1,287,148. To this 1,287,148 tickets of admission $1,2-7,148. To this 1,287,148 tickets of admission will be issued, at the insignificant price of one dollar each. The nature of the "Entertainment" proper is not disclosed, but purchasers are assured that the plan of presentation is "the fairest and most impartial yet offered to the public," for the simple and satisfactory reason that there is "a prize with every ticket."

The document then proceeds to state that "a number of the leading bankers and merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the charitable presentation entertainments of the day, have organized themselves into a company, with the view of inaugurating an enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-pur-chasers than any yet presented; and which, chasers than any yet presented; and which, being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of these enterprises." And as a positive guarantee that there will be no postponement of the "Entertainment," by reason of a failure to dispose of all the tickets, "an association of the leading bankers and merchants" of New York have generously run the risk of enriching themselves by becoming obligated to purchase such as may remain unsoid on the day of the grand presentation.

It may be of interest to know the nature of It may be of interest to know the nature of the prizes to be given away at the "Entertainment." Among them we find enumerated three in cash, of $75,000, $50,000, and $25,000 respectively; 861 others in cash, ranging in amount from $10,000 to $5, and footing up in the aggregate $100,000; pianos to the number of 66, and the value of $64,000; 218 melodeons, valued at $25,645; 615 sewing machines, valued at $72,275; full sets and clusters of diamonds, of the value of $101,150; 443 gold watches, valued at $73,319; 815 silver watches, valued at $29,744; and divers other assorted prizes, of the total value of

As an inducement to the purchaser of tickets, generous terms are offered to clubs who will take them by the half-dozen, while equally liberal terms are offered to persons ambitious of becoming agents of the "Entertainment."

We regret very much that our space will not permit us to give anything more than the above meagre outline of the projected "Entertain-ment." We presume, however, that the manag-ing bankers have advertised it sufficiently to dupe thousands of ignorant people already; and that, before the presentation comes off, they will still further increase their ill-gotten gains, If the authorities of New York city are not aware of the existence of this enterprise, it is high time that they received an inkling of it and took the necessary measures to secure its suppression, and the punishment of the swind-ling bankers who are "managing" it. We trust that no person who reads this will be so utterly foolish as to invest in this scheme; but as the fools are not all defunct at the present time, we have considered it incumbent upon ourselves to give the affair a thorough ventilation.

THE RESULT OF A SUNDAY'S BOATING-A MAN Drowned.—Yesterday afternoon four persons, being about half intoxicated, determined upon having a boat ride. So they all piled into a small skiff, and when near the Falls Bridge, on the Schuylkill, a bat blew off. One of them attempting to reach it, so far destroyed the equilibrium of the boat that it capsized, and all were soon struggling in the water. Three were able to swim to shore, but the fourth, Hugh Cuthbersome, a young Scotchman, went down. The body was not recovered till late last night.

THE NORTH PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD adver-The North Princettvania Kalkroad advertises in another column an important change in its schedule for summer arrangements to take effect on Wednesday next. The increasing importance of the trade with the Mahanoy and Wyoming Valleys has demanded further accommodations, and two daily connections are to be given to both of those sections in the new schedule. A close connection with Easton, leaving Philadelphia at 5°20 P., M. is also in the programme.

CRUBLTY TO ANIMALS-A MEETING FOR ITS PREVENTION.—To adopt some measure which would result in the prevention, to a great degree, of cruelty to animals, has of late ex-cited considerable discussion and thought. The torturing of horses by lash and club upon our public streets—the infliction of all manner of barbarisms upon the smaller animals—the of batbarisms upon the smaller animals—the undue cruelty exercised in our staughter-houses, where, in many cases, it is a cause of untold delight to inflict tortures, and witness the death throes of the dumb brutes, are becoming of too frequent occurrence to be allowed to exist longer.

Some time ago a measure was adopted which promised good results, and would have to-day been fully carried out had it not been that the people allowed inhumanity to be onenly oracbeen fully carried out had it not been that the people allowed inhumanity to be openly practised without giving any information.

The need of an association which will have for its object the prevention of all cracky is what has long been needed; and for the organization of such a society a meeting was called this afternoon at the Board of Trade Rooms, commencing at 1 o'clock. At the opening of the meeting there was a large attendance. ing of the meeting there was a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen. His Honor Mayor McMichael presided, and Richard P. White,

Esq., acted as Sectetary.
On taking the chair, his Honor remarked the necessity of such a society; they exist in many other States, and have been productive of great good. In his capacity as city magistrate many occurrences were daily coming under his observation, and that, in co-operation with the members of such an association, be would employ the police force to carry out as far as possible the object of such association.

The following resolutions were offered by the Hon. Mr. Phillips:— Resolved. That it is expedient to form an association, whose duty it shall be, printently and discreetly, but vigorously and efficiently, to aid in suppressing this

Resolved, That a committee of fifteen persons be appointed by the chairman of the meeting, for the purpose of preparing as act of incorporation for such an association, to be presented to the Legislature of the State at its next season.

Resolved, That the citizens of Philadelphia here assembled have witnessed for many years, with increasing regret and pain, the crueity to animals which is so trequently exhibited in our streets and elsewhere, and that the evil has now risen to such a point as to require for its suppression the efficient action of all humans and right, minded men.

Resolved, That a committee of seven persons be ap-action of all burnane and right, minded men.

Historived, That a committee of seven persons be appointed by the Chairman, whose duty it shall be to prepare and print, accordingly to their own discretion, a brief and pertinent address, containing an appeal to our citizens, to co-operate in suppressing practices so unworthy of a cultivated and enlightened people, and repugnant to the civilization of the age.

Hon, William A. Porter spoke on the subject

Hon, William A, Porter spoke on the subject of the resolutions, remarking that in Europe many such societies existed. In London no man was allowed to strike a horse in a cruel manner. Without the horse we could hardly conduct our business; without him, we would be even worse than without our many ships that sail the seas. Now in this city there is not one law that is preventive of any gruelty to such an animal, Often a horse, after hard labor all day, cruelly beaten, working throughout the twenty-tour hours, without a morsel of food, until late at night he is stalled, and has for his reward a small amount of poor hay. Not only reward a small amount of poor hay. Not only that, but there is a carelessness existing in the shoeing of horses, often the nails piercing the quick. Cattle that receive a drink at one of our quick. Cattle that receive a drink at one of our Western cities, before transportation, often pass without anything to allay their thirst until without anything to allay their thirst until they arrive at this city.

All who have seen the mode of conveying calves from place to place, with their heads hanging over the sharp tail-board of the cart, could not have but observed the inhuman manner in which they were conveyed along for perhaps five or six miles. Then, too, it has become a common sight, and it is a sorrowful revelation, that the horses on our street railroads are beaten cruelly, and sometimes in the roads are beaten cruelly, and sometimes in the roads are beaten cruelly, and sometimes in the most inhuman manner.

The question is now whether anything efficient can be done for its prevention. Shall it be said that a city of enlightened citizens can allow such an abomination to exist longer? Such a society, legally incorporated and co-operated with by all our citizens, would be productive of great good. Let every man who is engaged in this cruel work, be immediately arrested and have justice done him.

Hon. Joseph T. Thomas spoke at length on the cruel treatment of railroad drivers upon the horses that draw the cars. The railroad companies know of this treatment. The Peunsylvania Legislature has a right to revoke the companies know of this treatment. The Pennsylvania Legislature has a right to revoke the charter of any road that countenances this treatment practised by drivers. And if they persist in it, let their charter be revoked without any regulation whatever. Severe fines and penalties should be authorized, and such cases should also be subject to legal jurisdiction in a court of justice, and imprisonment should be imposed. Take the lobster, one of the lowest order of animals, and cold-blooded, it no doubt feels excruciating agony by having its claws plugged. Some other mode should be used to transport them without such crueity. Hon. James Pollock spoke in substantiation

Hon. James Follock spoke in substantiation of the preceding remarks. We should act upon this subject quickly, vigorously, and decisively. I say pity that man's family the father of which will beat merchessly any animal. Because such actions are demoralizing; they are accompanied with the foulest of oaths, and develop and spatial passions of a degree of the probled and spatial passions of a degree of the probled and spatial passions of a degree of the probled and spatial passions of a degree of the probled and spatial passions of a degree of the problem of sall the wicked and cruel passions of a depraved man's heart. The law has power to make a man treat kindly all animals, because they are of God's creation and are but dumb brutes. The question was put upon the adoption of the resolutions, and they were unanimously adopted.

The committee to draft a charter are as follows:—Messrs.S. Morris Waln, John Welsh, J.B. Lippincott, Henry M. Phillips, Eli K. Price, Robert F. Peterson, M. D. Ferdinand J. Dreer, John H. Towne, Joseph Harrison, Jr., Lemuel Coffin, William A. Porter, George H. Stuart, William J. Horstman, Richard P. White, M. Richards Muckle.

The Committee on Addresses were appointed.

Hibler this morning, charged with illegal selling of whisky.

Mr. J. Byrnes being sworn, testified as follows:—I called on Mr. Lancaster on the 24th of April, at his rectifying establishment, in the rear of No. 1009 Otsego street, and asked him for his books, which I examined and footed up purchases and sales. I found he should have on hand about two hundred and sixty-eight gallons, In the rectifying room I found fifteen full barrels of soirits and one partially full, and in an adjoining shed five full barrels. On the following morning I revisited Mr. Lancaster's establishment and found two barrels had been added to the five, making seven, which would amount in the sggregate to 800 gallons, and his books showed only about 268 gallons. I asked him in regard to the discrepancy between the amount showed only about 26s gallons. I asked him in regard to the discrepancy between the amount on band and that shown by his books, and he replied there was a purchase of 500 gallons he had not entered, which would still leave a difference. I asked him in regard to the persons of whom he purchased, and he was unable to give any information as to their address; said have were spents, and that he purchased for hey were agents, and that he purchased for ash. I asked him to whom he sold. He said be knew nothing about them; that he sold he knew nothing about them; that he sold through an agent whom he thought was a restdent of New York, and his name was Jones. I asked him if he had any bills, and he replied he had not; the reason he alleged was that his pecket had been picked.

He was bound over in the sum of $1000 to appear at court, Mr. William M. Cooper entering security.

TWO IMPORTANT EVENTS. To-day and to-morrow, in London, will take blace two of the most important, if not the two most important, events of the times. Representatives from Great Britain, Russia, Austria, rance, Prussia, Italy, Belgium, and from the King of Holland as Grand Duke of Luxembourg, will meet to-morrow to determine the fate of a German duchy, and to decide whether the peace of Europe shall or shall not for the present be preserved. To-day one hundred thousand working-men, deeply interested in the question of reform, and deeply dissatisfied with the measure now before the House of Commons, will assemble in Hyde Park, there in the face of heaven and before their fellowmen to repeat their grievances and to reassert their rights. The interest which would have attached to either the one or the other, had they occurred at a longer interval, will be diminished by the attention which will necessarily be given to each. Both, however, will take place. The Congress will assemble, members will proceed to business, and, in all probability, before the shades of Tuesday evening have fallen, telegraphic wires will announce to all the ends of the earth what is the likelihood of an amicable adjustment. Reformers will gather in strength at the appointed rendezvous, and will make it plain to the world that, in spite of false friends and avowed enemies, in spite of men, however patient and long-suffering they may be, will not much longer be denied their rights. Our evening cable despatches will be full of interest. The public will naturally await their arrival with impatience.—N. Y. Herald. Queen, Lords, and Commons, English working-

The Davis Trial.

The newspaper correspondents are preparing to fit to Richmond, to be present at the preceedings before the Court there on Monday next, on the application for a writ of habeas corpus for Jefferson Davis, It has been stated that District Attorney Chandler has filed a written request with the President, for an order to General Burton, Commandant at Fortress Monroe, to deliver Jefferson Davis to the United States Marshal for the Eastern District of Virginia, in case process shall be issued to bring the prisoner before the United States Circuit or District Court for that district. This is a mistake; the request was filed before Secretary Stanton on Saturday. The Secretary has been too unwell to take the matter up, but is expected to make a reply to-morrow.

me when I went back first, no one came to the house that day but the murderer; he slipped in about a o'clock, and went away; no other person was there that day that I know of; I read the paper about half an hour; I had no conversation with the prisoner when he came in; I do not know where he went when he went out; my wife was in the other room, knitting; I could not say that he saw her; he was not in the house more than a quarter of an hour; he had his hat on when he came in; I don't remember what kind of a hat It was; he did not sit down; he had a black hat on; I didn't-ask him what he wanted; I didn't see anything in his hand; he left a paper (The Banner of Light) there about 2 or 3 o'clock; I didn't see it before that time, and I suppose he must have left it; the paper I was reading in the morning was still in the place where I left it; the fence in the back yard could be scaled; the ience on the west slde of the yard is the same height as the other sides; the blood I had observed when I went in had flown as far as the ironing table; I did not examine the wounds upon my wife; the prisoner let mae in the door at 3 o'clock; when I first entered he immediately told me that some one had murdered my wife; he appeared to be triendly and very much astonished at the affair, and wondered who had done it; the prisoner said he found her in that condition when he came; when I said he must have done it. since he was the only one there; he did not say any hing; when I saw my wife, my companion for the last loriy lour years lying there butchered, I nearly loat my easee, and did not know what happened around me; it was before the door was opened, and before I rapped, that I put my spectacles on the prisoner did not state to me after he let me in that be came there and found my wife murdered; becked the deer and then went to hunt for me; he personer did not state to me after he let me in that he came there had found my wife murdered; becked the deer and then went to hunt for me; he never eat dinner with us but once and taat the offer: the pockets of my wife's dress were not disturbed in any way; I didn't see my wite have any money that day.

George Parker sworn—I live at No. 3 Cobb street: I am a barber: my shop is at No. 1311 Shippen street; I beard the outery made by Mr. Magilton; he said somebody had murdered his wife; I was 1ying on the settee in the shop when I heard it: I got up and went out into the street, and went to Mr. Magilton's door and saw the prisoner coming out of the entry; I went iar enought to see Mrs. Magilton lying on the floor; her throat was cut.

Cross-xamined—My shop is next door to Mr. Magilton's door open; I heard no disturbance when lying on the settee: Winnemore said he was going after a policeman; he didn't appear to be excited or disturbed; I went out that day and returned about 3 o'clock.

Mary Stewarts worn—I live No. 1.308 Shippen street; I was in my house right opposite Mr. Magilton's door on the day in question: I was shanding at the window preparing to go to curch; I could see lato his stairway from where I saw Mr. Magilton standing on his steps with his hand trying the knob of the door; I did not see him try the dead-atch; then he knocked with an open hand on trying the knob of the door. I did not see him try the dead-latch; then he knocked with an open hand on the door; I could see him distinctly; then he knopped to one side; I could not say positively whether he lifted the window or not; as he stepped as aside the prisoner came to the door bareheaded and it drew my attention; Mr. Magliton walked it, and the prisoner campt him by the lett arm; whatever he said to him it made him kind of shudder; I thought it was fire; when he came out he ran on the barber's steps.

Cross-examined—This was between ten minutes and a quarter past 3; I stood in the busement of my house opposite to the window and opposite Magilton's door; when Winnemore came out he had to turn his back to the wall to let the crowd that were pressing in to get by; he had a high hat on then: I saw him distinctly; I was coming out of my door, crossing the pavement when I saw him.
